

No More Disappeared

International Day of the Disappeared, Amnesty International UK campaign

Figures from the UN suggest that four people are subject to enforced disappearance every day, often by the state or with their full knowledge. Many of these 'disappeared' face torture and death, yet the UK Government is one of only two western European states that have not signed a treaty to protect people from enforced disappearance.

The piece was commissioned by Amnesty International to campaign for awareness on this topic.

MATERIALS: MIXED MEDIA